Synopsis of the Film Get Low; The General Store (N33 33.254 W082 53.705) and other locations in Crawfordville were locations used in the filming of the movie "Get Low". "Get Low" stars Robert Duvall, Bill Murray and Sissy Spacek and Lucas Black. The movie is set in the 1930's and is about an eccentric old man who's up in years and wondering if his town will give him a decent funeral. Felix, the eccentric old man, played by Robert Duvall, stages his own mock funeral to find out the answer.... while he was still alive.

Interesting Facts: Crawfordville, Georgia has no fast food restaurants or other modern distractions to detract from the scenic landscape, making it the perfect town backdrop for "Get Low". Many local residents served as extras and bit players including; Sam Greene, Robert and Myrtle Kendrick, Louise Greene, Charles Greene, Sandra Ingram, Sona and Lawrence McCray, Kelli Lamble, Kevin Pike, Lynn Bradford and John Allen's; Model A Plus. The town was completely closed for three days and the pavement was covered over with black dirt for the 1930's setting for "Get Low". There are many interesting things to see in Crawfordville and caches to log. The Alexander H. Stevens Memorable State park and Historical Site is located in downtown and has a number of Geocaches including GA Parks Geo-Challenge (GC 27C6V). The park encompasses 1,177 acres and offers beautiful scenery along two lakes and twelve miles of hiking and horseback trails. Adjacent to the park is Liberty Hall, the 1875 home of Alexander Stephens, Vice President of the Confederacy, US Congressman and Governor of Georgia. While you're in town, you can easily bag benchmark (DF0393) at the Taliaferro County Courthouse. Crawfordville is a real treasure waiting to be discovered and explored with a number of Geocaches located nearby.
